   Bruce reported on his meeting with Drs. Blake and Agbango:
   * Assessment on the Assessment Plan included in PRP 3230 and the Omnibus Form.
     Dr. Agbango explained the Provost’s view is that Assessment is not only the key responsibility of BUCC and Academic Affairs but also affects and includes all University divisions such as Student Life, etc. Policy will be developed by the Office of Planning and Assessment with input from BUCC and all Divisions. The General Administration Committee will be involved as assessment is across campus.

- Members discussed the need for Academic Affairs to be the leader in assessment. Questions arose on how departments should proceed with five-year reviews. Dr. Agbango indicated to continue the process as in the past until a new plan is in place. Bill Hudon informed the committee this matter will be on the agenda for Meet and Discuss September 25th. “This affects faculty and faculty workload. This policy and any policy on assessment must be an open discussion with faculty first, then a development of a policy. Departments have been orally told to conform to the new policy but no written policy is in place”.

* ISIS not delivering what faculty anticipated in terms of advisement
The Provost was unaware of this and requested a meeting with the Registrar, technology, BUCC representatives, etc. to review options.

* PRP review
A report will be presented to the Deans for input then to the Provost. A timeline has not been established.

* PRP 3881
The Provost requested a review of PRP 3881 in comparison with the policy on Student Code of Conduct.

* PRP 3640
The Provost requested a small meeting with the Registrar.

* Class Size
Any time a class size is mentioned in a master course syllabus, the box must be checked on the front of the Omnibus form even if it is not a revision in class size. Toni Trumbo-Bell announced the frustration of an obligation without a written policy. T. Bell requested this be added to the Policy.

Specifies only 6 credits taken for a minor may also count for the major. The COB asked if this applies to double majors. Bruce Candlish indicated it does not.

The suggested revisions were shared with the college Deans. Dr. Blake has requested additional information on the revisions suggested.
* Omnibus Form
  - Bloomsburg University has always had class size recommendation with rationale. Please check the recommended class size box if there is a reference to class size regardless if there is a change in the class size from the previously approved master course syllabus.
  - Workshop opportunities will be provided to correctly assign class size.
  - New courses – when proposing a new course, indicate why developing a new course and review the inventory to determine if there are any courses to deactivate with the new course in the inventory.
  - Additional faculty workload needed for assessment. This statement is appearing on the Omnibus without a description of the existing department expectations for assessment and no indication of the extra time.
  - Attach current and proposed master course syllabus when a revision is requested for a course.
  - Provide evidence when requesting a minimum grade point average in a course or program.
* As a public institution, we need to provide educational services when needed to support student success.

John Huckans questioned Dr. Blake if a professor can see a schedule of courses two or three years down the road for assistance in advising students and planning. Dr. Blake replied that availability is in the developing process.

Marion Mason questioned Dr. Blake on the revising of master course syllabus during their 5-year review to align with assessment. Dr. Blake replied departments should continue doing what they have always done around their 5-year review.

4. Distance Education Class Component

Mary Nicholson presented sample wording proposers may wish to use when developing distance education proposals. On-site refers to any face-to-face delivery which doesn’t necessarily denote the site as Bloomsburg University but any meeting location for the course. PRP 3604 – Undergraduate Graduation Requirements
BU policy states you cannot use more than 6 credits from a major for a minor. Joseph Kissell is looking for direction on the interpretation of whether or not cognate courses can count toward a minor. John Riley suggested the BUCC discuss and pass a motion to the effect that cognate courses or common core courses in a major shall be applicable to a minor at a future meeting.

8. Open Forum
Marion Mason questioned the BOG policy interpretation of creating a minor without a major. John Riley and members discussed the direction given on assessment and the effect from Middle States. Upon the return of the Director of the Office of Planning and Assessment, a more comprehensive assessment plan will be developed. Dr. Hudon stated there is a clear indication that program review is required of all departments and all programs in the standard instructions of the 5-year review. Dr. Hudon explained this arose from a verbal conversation with the Director of Planning and Assessment that goes above and beyond the standard instruction. Dr. Hudon stated there is no requirement to do anything above and beyond what is in writing.

The meeting adjourned at 4:58 PM.

   A. Change 1 (recommendation): If a department would like to make a change in the Rubrics of a previously approved course but makes no changes to the student learning objectives, the process recommended is to email the Chair of the GEC with the current and modified versions of the master course syllabus, Omnibus, and Rubrics. The GEC Chair will either send them to the Office of Planning and Assessment or determine that it needs to go through the regular curricular process.
      John Riley moved to endorse this change; seconded by Tina Entzminger.
      Motion to endorse the above revision to the GEC Guidelines passed by voice vote.

   B. Change 2 (suggestion): If no assessment data is received by a course(s) taught several times, reminder emails are sent to the chair of the department and the professor of the course. If no action is taken to submit data, a recommendation is presented to the BUCC to remove the GEPs from the course.
      Committee members discussed this suggestion penalizes the course and not the instructor. One course could have several sections taught by different professors with some of the professors submitting data and others not. Consensus of the committee is that this suggestion is not under the jurisdiction of the GEC or BUCC but at the Administration level.

5. Policies, Rules and Procedures
A. PRP 3602 – Majors, Minors, and Other Credit-Based Academic Programs

Toni Trumbo-Bell raised the issue of the interpretation of the “no more than 6 credits toward the minor may come from the student’s major and/or certification area.” At a previous BUCC meeting, the consensus was to interpret the word “area” as the student’s major and did not include cognate courses. Joseph Kissell explained that the BOG policy relating to this PRP previously required that new academic majors include cognate courses, but that the policy has since been revised, and the policy no longer excludes majors and minors with a 6-credit overlap. Joseph Kissell recommended removing “no more than 6 credits from the major” and eliminating “excluding cognate courses” from the local policy. Clarification was requested from the floor. Toni Trumbo-Bell asked if BOG policies superseded local policies, and John Riley responded that BOG policies are minimal. Local policy may impose more stringent standards. Monica Favia asked how professional degrees fit in to the policy. The reply was that professional Bachelor degrees are still baccalaureate degrees and so fit into the policy.

Toni Trumbo-Bell moved to interpret PRP 3602 to go by PaSSHE policy (no credit on credit overlap). Seconded by Carolyn LaMcchia.

Tina Entzminger asked for clarification as to whether a first and second reading were required. Bruce Candlish replied that this is a sense of the BUCC motion, not policy. Thus, it is advice to the registrar. Joseph Kissell asked that the policy be changed as soon as possible.

Motion to interpret PRP 3602 to go by PaSSHE policy (no credit on credit overlap) passed by voice vote.

B. PRP 3343 – Evaluation of Undergraduate Transfer Credits – First Reading

Toni Trumbo-Bell disclosed she will move to include that language every time an online course is proposed. It was the consensus of BUCC to create policy to request the option of a proctored exam for online courses. Members requested the College Curriculum Committee suggest this language be included in online course proposals.

   Members requested an update from the Provost on a tracking system for policy/proposal reviews and approvals.

   A. PRP 3602 – Majors, Minors, and Other Credit-Based Academic Programs - 1st Reading
      Bruce read two suggested motions. 1. Under Academic Minor: strike “no more than six credits toward the minor may come from the student’s major and/or certification area” and add “As a secondary field of study, the academic minor should reflect a minimum of six credits of advanced standing coursework from the academic major”. 2. Under Academic Major: strike excluding cognate courses and replace with including cognate courses.
      Michael Shepard questioned if a person can major and minor in the same field. Joseph Kissell indicated we do not allow that at Bloomsburg. Discussion continued on possible scenarios. Toni Trumbo-Bell recommended this be outlined in department policies. The sense of the BUCC was to add language to the PRP stating you cannot major and minor in the same field. John Riley asked the chair to work with the Registrar to develop language. Mike Shepard stated he liked the language “if it’s wholly subsumed in the major, it cannot be a minor”. Members also requested including the maximum number of credits defined in the major specifying if the major is a BA or BS.

Toni Trumbo-Bell commented adding language to check box 2g. Members discussed removing Concept Approval from the Omnibus Form and replacing with Letter of Intent, and to indicate in the policy to include the entire proposal when creating a major or minor.

Item 3 of BOG Policy 1985-01-A states: All previously approved programs must be in compliance by August 1, 2015.

Marion Mason moved to strike the phrase “excluding cognate courses” and replace with “including cognate courses” under Academic Major; seconded by David Heineman.

Jonathan Lincoln raised the scenario of a student transferring to Bloomsburg with an Associate degree in Chemistry (or most of the Sciences) will most likely have 39 credits of major and collateral courses. BU does not offer enough Chemistry courses to offer the student 39 additional credits which would prevent the student from graduating from Bloomsburg under this BOG Policy. This policy is in opposition to the Program to Program Articulation Agreements. Michael Shepard asked for a definition of cognate courses. As written in PASSHE Procedures and Standards for University Operations, cognate courses is defined as: Cognate courses are those that are in a discipline or field of study different from the primary discipline of the major (i.e., as determined by the primary course code or prefix, or home department), but are considered essential to the major requirements for the program of study. (Such courses required for the major but also counting for general education do not contribute toward the maximum number of credits permitted for the B.A. or B.S. degrees.)

7. Open Forum

- John Riley stated Student Conduct Policy passed at the Forum but did not include a reference to the Classroom Behavior Policy. A student will not be aware of the Classroom Behavior Policy. There will be a reconsideration of the academic Classroom Behavior Policy.

- Bill Hudon distributed a document recently distributed to students in the Audiology Doctorate Program outlining the changes to the Audiology Doctorate Program. The change did not go through department, college and BUCC purview. The main differences include the option of completing a thesis or not completing a thesis, coursework changes, in particular, replacing PSYCHOLOGY 644 with an Audiology course, and adding a research in Communications Disorder course which does not yet exist. Toni Trumbo-Bell questioned who was responsible for this document. Bob Gates replied, the chair of the department, the dean of the college, and the dean of Graduate Studies prepared the document. This change is a remedy to current issues with completion in the program, retention, and other issues. These documents, and what needs to be done through BUCC, will be forthcoming. This was released now so that students can make proper scheduling for the summer and fall.

John Riley moved the committee direct the BUCC Chair to file a grievance against the Administration on the changes to the Audiology Doctorate Plan; seconded by Toni Trumbo-Bell.

Toni Trumbo-Bell questioned why an “Exceptions to Graduation Requirements” wasn’t the chosen route in an emergency situation. The consensus of the BUCC was the Provost’s representative could have apprised the committee during Chair’s Remarks in previous BUCC meetings. This is in violation of Article 31E. Carolyn LaMacchia and John Huckans voiced their desire to gather more information as to the purpose of this emergency process prior to voting for a grievance. The consensus of BUCC was this is a contract violation.

Motion to file a grievance regarding the changes made to the Audiology Doctorate Plan passed by voice vote.

- Bruce Candlish and the committee expressed their appreciation for the service Jill Whitenight has performed to the committee over the years as secretary.

The meeting adjourned at 5:18 PM.
