No College of Business student will be penalized for the curriculum changes made to accommodate the 120 credit-hour sequence. The following accommodations will be implemented for these students:

1. Any student with 60 credit hours completed by January 1, 2003 may seek a waiver of the 60/40 rule. The Department Chairperson may grant this waiver.

2. Introduction to Business taken by Undeclared and Business Education students will be counted. The Department will determine how the credit is applied.

3. Courses currently at the "200" level will be reviewed and if appropriate elevated to the "300" level. Only courses designated at the "300" level and above will be considered upper division courses in the College of Business.

4. All students who have completed or will complete Personal Finance (96.120) by the end of the Spring 2003 semester will receive credit for this course as a business elective.

5. Personal Financial Decisions, 96.120, credits do not count toward graduation for College of Business majors who have previously earned more than six business credits at Bloomsburg University.

6. The Chairperson of an academic department shall have the authority to waive the 60/40 rule for any student currently at junior or senior standing (as of January 1, 2003).

---

No College of Business student will be penalized for the curriculum changes made to accommodate the 120 credit-hour sequence. The following accommodations will be implemented for these students:

1. Any student with 60 credit hours completed by January 1, 2003 may seek a waiver of the 60/40 rule. The Department Chairperson may grant this waiver.

2. Introduction to Business taken by Undeclared and Business Education students will be counted. The Department will determine how the credit is applied.

3. Courses currently at the "200" level will be reviewed and if appropriate elevated to the "300" level. Only courses designated at the "300" level and above will be considered upper division courses in the College of Business.

4. All students who have completed or will complete Personal Finance (96.120) by the end of the Spring 2003 semester will receive credit for this course as a business elective.

5. Personal Financial Decisions, 96.120, credits do not count toward graduation for College of Business majors who have previously earned more than six business credits at Bloomsburg University.

6. The Chairperson of an academic department shall have the authority to waive the 60/40 rule for any student currently at junior or senior standing (as of January 1, 2003).

---

No College of Business student will be penalized for the curriculum changes made to accommodate the 120 credit-hour sequence. The following accommodations will be implemented for these students:

1. Any student with 60 credit hours completed by January 1, 2003 may seek a waiver of the 60/40 rule. The Department Chairperson may grant this waiver.

2. Introduction to Business taken by Undeclared and Business Education students will be counted. The Department will determine how the credit is applied.

3. Courses currently at the "200" level will be reviewed and if appropriate elevated to the "300" level. Only courses designated at the "300" level and above will be considered upper division courses in the College of Business.

4. All students who have completed or will complete Personal Finance (96.120) by the end of the Spring 2003 semester will receive credit for this course as a business elective.

5. Personal Financial Decisions, 96.120, credits do not count toward graduation for College of Business majors who have previously earned more than six business credits at Bloomsburg University.

6. The Chairperson of an academic department shall have the authority to waive the 60/40 rule for any student currently at junior or senior standing (as of January 1, 2003).