Guidance Counseling and Student Affairs (M.Ed.)

The graduate degree in Guidance Counseling and Student Affairs is a two year, full-time program (or 3 years part-time) requiring 57 credits of coursework. Students are provided an eclectic curriculum of theory, research and practical application in each of the three tracks: Elementary School Counseling, Secondary School Counseling, or College Student Affairs.

Although each student must select one track in which to specialize, students are welcome to select two for a dual certification.

Prospective Students
Students may begin the program in the Fall, Spring or Summer. Coursework generally involves 12 credits per Fall and Spring term and 6 credits for each of the 2 summer sessions.

Emphasis in this program is placed on balancing both academic/theoretical learning with application. Students receive classroom and practical instruction from both core faculty and current professionals in the school counseling or the college student affairs field.
