Your iOS device is now connected to your Bloomsburg University Email Account. Please give the device up to approximately 15 minutes to perform the initial sync with your account.

Can’t get your email account added to your iOS device successfully?

1. Verify the password you are typing in is correct by attempting to log into <https://webmail.bloomu.edu/>. If it is, type that same case-sensitive password very carefully when trying to add the email account again. If you’ve forgotten your current password, reset it at <https://password.bloomu.edu/>.
2. Update your iOS device to the latest software version by plugging it in to your computer and updating it through iTunes. Then try adding the email account again.
